GCC Class of 2011
“29 Who Shine” Award of Recognition

Joseph Powers was nominated by GCC President Bob Pura to represent GCC and his peers in the 21st Annual Striving and Driving for GCC Scholars Golf Tournament, on Monday, May 23, 2010 at the Country Club of Greenfield at 12:30 p.m. The President praised Powers for his academic achievements, as well as his professional and personal accomplishments.

Powers, a member of the GCC Class of 2011, is originally from Charlestown, MA. His journey in his own words, as evidenced by his writing, is detailed below:

"... I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in..."

As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution as well. After he completed his degree requirements in May 2010, he received a significant scholarship to transfer to Arcadia College for the Spring 2011 semester. For his work, he earned the Bachelor's of Arts in English, with plans to continue to graduate school.

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. After he completed his degree requirements in May 2010, he received a significant scholarship to transfer to Arcadia College for the Spring 2011 semester. For his work, he earned the Bachelor's of Arts in English, with plans to continue to graduate school.

As a writer, Powers best describes his journey in his own words, as evidenced by his writing. His journey in his own words, as evidenced by his writing, is detailed below:

"... I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. After he completed his degree requirements in May 2010, he received a significant scholarship to transfer to Arcadia College for the Spring 2011 semester. For his work, he earned the Bachelor's of Arts in English, with plans to continue to graduate school.

As a writer, Powers best describes his journey in his own words, as evidenced by his writing. His journey in his own words, as evidenced by his writing, is detailed below:

"... I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."

"Through his work and studies over the past two years, Jake developed a passion for supporting individuals who are in recovery from addiction and trauma," said Pura. "Mr. Powers' campus was for students struggling with issues of addiction, paving a safer path to their recovery and to achieving their educational goals."

Powers' personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution. As a writer, Powers best describes his personal and academic achievements. His personal and academic accomplishments have been acknowledged by another important institution: "...I am from a place where nothing is free, my people told me never give in, so I trudge forward..."